

« buildings come down
anxiety maps »

open call :: Locus Sonus

Open call to participate in the Locus Sonus Audio Streaming project.

This is a call from the French based audio in art research group Locus Sonus to participate in their streamed soundscapes open web-mic project.

Open an ogg audio stream from your home or garden (no pre-recorded playlists please) and become a remote member of the Locus Sonus orchestra.

Locus Sonus proposes to use the sound from your environment as raw material for their installations and performances. As an added bonus, all streams will be made available on a web page so that you can do your own international mix at will.

Locus Sonus is hoping to obtain a variety of streams from diverse and exotic locations; the imaginative potential of the project and its future development depends on the diversity and richness the streams you propose. They will be happy to discuss artistic and technical issues with you.

To participate in this project, contact support at locusonus dot org.

- listen to the streams already available
- download a PD patch and start streaming. password required: contact support at locusonus dot org
- video documentation of previous Locus Sonus presentations
- technical doc

This entry was posted on Wednesday, July 26th, 2006 at 11:40 pm and is filed under projects, events, phonography. You can follow any responses to this entry through the RSS 2.0 feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.

Leave a Reply

<input type="text"/>	Name (required)
<input type="text"/>	Mail (will not be published) (required)
<input type="text"/>	Website
<input type="text"/>

anti-© 2006 empty streets. This site is "proudly powered" by WordPress and me. visit our workshop.